Unit for Festival at West Toronto Division Commander President.

One of the chief difficulties in connection with the arranging of a United Songster Brigade Festival in Toronto is that of securing a large enough room to comfortably seat all the Songsters. This was strikingly demonstrated on Thursday night, January 29th, at West Toronto Corps, where the fourth of the series of festivals was held. Lieutenant Colonel Chandler presided, and the Hall was filled.

The enlarged platform, holding the five Brigades which took part, had the appearance of a solid block of bays, relieved only here and there by the red or yellow trimmings of a Bandman's tunic. It was a light fit for the Brigades, but they did their best to minimize this handicap—and succeeded.

Toronto I. opened the programme with "Soldiers Marching" and later sang "Wonderful Stories of Jesus" under the leadership of Brother Coadell. The words were clearly heard; tuning was good, but a little more attention to light and shade would have added to the effectiveness of the renderings. The West Toronto Male Choir sang "Would you know why I love Jesus?" The men did well, but we have heard them sing much better. Their excellent tonal qualities seem to be more suited to solid, sustained singing, for which they have made themselves a name. Riverdale (Leader Farmer) gave two very good numbers, and even if the Brigade at times lacked precision and assurance, its warmth of tone and sympathy with the words being sung made one feel that if service is the true object of Songster Brigades, then Riverdale must have had considerable success.

Two items by the United Brigades were given under the baton of Songster Leader Harry Donihorn of West Toronto. "Stand up and bless the Lord" is peculiarly adapted to such singing, and the Brigades gave it the full capacity of their lungs. Much better attack and release would have been secured had the conductor been able to have a full view of the singers. The second united selection was "I thirst, Thou wounded Lamb of God" to the tune of "Acclamation." And didn't they make the roof reecho those wonderful words, linked to that sublime old tune.

The Temple Brigade (Leader Turpin) sang "Break forth into joy" and "Mighty to Save." The opening was well done. It was a delight to observe how the Brigade members watched their leader—in the first selection. In the latter, however, they fell from grace, and audibly anticipated their conductor. Another good point about this Brigade—the members listened for each other, and built up the selection accordingly. The soprano soloist sang with much acceptance, and showed no little taste and conception of her theme.

After Sister Mrs. Richards had recited, Dovercourt came on with "The Call Divine." An excellent lecture opening was followed by a fine presentation, in which the male voices were conspicuous—and good. A slip in the second section of the piece was redeemed by their good work all the way through. The Brigade's second item, "Come unto Me," was the masterpiece of the evening. Care and roundness of tone, with splendid shading and deficiency of treatment, made the Brigade's efforts something of a triumph. Leader Whitehouse has gained almost perfect control of his Brigade.

Brother Kcen of the Temple harmony played a mandolin solo, accompanied on the piano by Adjutant Green, the Ligar Street Songsters (Leader J. Hart), contributed "Onward and Upward," and an arrangement of "Hark, hark, my soul." On the whole, the Brigade sang very well, and with good volume. At times the male voices were a little harsh and strident, and over-balanced the female voices; and in the second selection, there was some reading; but considering the rather difficult nature of the piece, the Brigade gave a fair account of itself.

Adjutant Green gave a pianoforte solo during the evening, and Sister Mrs. Bonthron sang "The Children's Hymn."

The next festival is to take place at Riverdale, on February 19th.

Rhodes Avenue (Toronto) Band, which at present numbers nine players, was met by Captain and Mrs. Wilson, the Corps Officers, for a spiritual meeting on Monday, January 26th. In addition to the Captain, Corps Treasurer Travis, Bandmaster W. Jolly, and Band Secretary Fisher also spoke, and their addresses, following a tea, were very helpful.

The Band, which by the way, received good support during its first serenading effort, is now able to hold its own open-air meeting on Sunday afternoons, and at night. Bandmaster Jolly, who has been acting as leader for a time, but is now commissioned as Bandmaster, has a good hold upon his men: they will yet become widely known.

Ensign Thompson writes: "The Hamilton III. Band and Songsters worked very hard during the Christmas serenading season, and so unitedly and happily that it was a pleasure to see them or be with them. This is not the best district for serenading, but as a result of keeping at it, and seizing the opportunity, the Band and Brigade were rewarded with over four hundred dollars towards instruments, music, portable organ, Corps, etc."

It is also interesting to learn from the Ensign's letter that the Bandmaster, Brother Collins, was saved at the Corps just over three years ago, while he was under the influence of liquor, against which the "War Cry" made a strong protest by means of its "Anti-Drink" number. He had (says the Ensign) attended the Corps several times, got into drinking, and subsequently got converted and delivered from his old habit. He has now been Bandmaster of the Band for about two years and nine months.

"My! what a long programme!" This is very frequently the remark passed about Band and other programmes. It has also attached itself to the programmes arranged for the United Songster Brigade festivals in Toronto, and the need of some reform has been evidenced right from the commencement of the series.

"Well, what can you do?" says a Songster Leader. "Here you've got five or six Brigades coming to your Corps, and one must give them a good show." Very true, dear comrade, but is there not some way of avoiding the scamping, and even omission, of items towards the close of the programme, when the hands they have done pass ten o'clock?

Would those Brigades who have long distances—some of them nearly ten miles by street car—to travel after the meeting, really object if their programme? It would not be judged unfair to the people who gather to hear the various Brigades: in fact, a Brigade, knowing that it appeared only once on the programme, and that that number, would, perhaps, find this plan an incentive to closer and more sung, with benefit to the Brigade itself and those who listen.

If long programmes are the inevitable—we do not see why they should be. It is a pity that the Brigades should be so cramped in their programme.

Another long-felt want of the present series of Songster Festivals, on the platform, is the absence of any time, is slice of time, for each Songster to say a word, on which the Corps might conveniently be made to march.

On Monday, January 26th, on the occasion of the farewell of the officers, Montreal IV. Band gave a musical festival. The programme was good (says G. D.), and the Biggs, from the Metrople, were the chair. Among the items presented by the Band were "Merry Childhood" and the "Lionel March."

An instrumental quartette, led by Bandmen Butts, Well, Herd, Garner, and Jagers, and two of the youngest members of the Band, gave a cornet duet, "Bowden, by the way, has just been promoted from first to solo cornet. A vocal solo by the chairman, lighted the audience, also a solo by Master John Robb, of the programme. The Record Series, a portion of Scripture, and the chairman closed by a canon of appeal to the unseen.

The Kingston Band and Corps have been stirred by two remarkable meetings which were recently directed by Captain Smith, the Corps Officer (says J. M.). The first spiritual meeting began in the afternoon, the Captain reading the Scriptures and the Bandmen giving the testimonies. At ten o'clock a recreation chorus was sung to the meeting. But it was not long before the Band again spoke up, and their knees, some dropped in prayer, and very soon the whole company was weeping, praying, singing, so mightily did the Spirit of God come upon the meeting. It was 12:45 midnight before the Band started for their homes.

At the following Soldiers' meeting, the power of God was again manifested, and the comrades were praying, singing, and making fresh conversions until midnight.

On a recent Thursday night the Band gave a musical programme. At the close two souls came forward. On Saturday night two more came forward; Sunday morning two, between in the afternoon, and fifteen at night. Fourteen Juniors also had of the Merry Sent, making a total of forty-seven surrenders for the week-end.

The revival spirit has taken hold of the whole Corps. From the time of the Sunday afternoon opening at 2:15 until eleven o'clock Sunday night, we had one continuous meeting, as instead of going home for supper, a number of the Bandmen and Soldiers, with Captain Smith, stayed and had a prayer meeting. The meeting at night was a time of rejoicing.

The Toronto Temple Songsters recently met in the Council Chamber for a New Year's tea and social evening, under the presidency of Staff-Captain Hayes, Songster Leader Turpin was responsible for the arrangements, which were of the happiest order. About sixty comrades were present. The Brigade's recent progress has been very gratifying to the Corps, and to the Songster Leader, to whose work the Brigade owes its present efficiency.

REPRESENTING the Men's Social, the Property, and Immigration Departments, Lieut. Colonel Rees and Turhave just completed a tour of the North-West and Pacific Provinces. They started together, and returned together, and were together for much of the time of their absence from Toronto. Perhaps it is at all events—say they were travelling together, for he did "all" business while in the West; and it will be seen that a very important sense are the provisions of the Men's Social Department dependent upon the Property Department's co-operation.

Arriving in Vancouver on January 1st, Lieut. Colonel Rees at once conferred with Ensign Marshall, who has charge of the Men's Social Work in that city, as to the opening of the new Metrople and Salvage Department on Lansdowne Avenue. This took place on Thursday, amid scenes of great enthusiasm and rejoicing. Brigadier Green presided at the ceremony and the Provincial Government was directly represented by Mr. A. H. B. Macgowan, M. P. P. Mayor Baxter was supported by Messrs. James, Hoskins, and Cotterell. The Rev. Dr. Fraser and Rev. E. A. Henry, Chief of Police McLennan, and Deputy Chief Melkay were also present.

The building was befittingly decorated. Over the exterior floated a huge Union Jack, while from the windows hung many smaller flags. The No. 1 Band was also present, and dispensed appropriate sacred music during the afternoon's programme, and Ensign Marshall rendered a solo entitled "From Sinking Ships He Lifted Me."

The opening address was given by Lieut. Colonel Rees, who said that hundreds of men in Canada could look back to The Salvation Army's Industrial Department as having given them their first footing on the ladder to social regeneration and an honest livelihood. Ensign Marshall had been sent out to Vancouver to take charge of the work here and nized. He hoped soon to see this institution on a sound financial basis, so that The Salvation Army might start a similar institution for women. His final words were: "I welcome you on behalf of the citizens, and in declaring the building open, may God bless the work!"

A statement of the money expended on the building was given by Colonel Turner. He stated that the total cost of the building would be about $25,000. Of this amount $5,000 had been subscribed. Colonel Turner stated that practically all the material used in the building had been purchased in the Province, and Niagara Falls, Comrades. Long Sleight-Ride and Meetings. The final meeting, among the robes and blankets provided to keep warm, a quick word from the visitors, a squeaking, crunching sound, the number of the sleighs gripped the snow, and the happy merry ring of sleigh bells rang from us all, and we were off.

There were two sleighs packed right full of happy salubritarians, and we were on our way to Niagara Falls, Ont., to Niagara-on-the-Lake, to visit the Methodist Church of that place, who had invited us to sing and give them an Army meeting.

Scarcely the sleighs fall along the street, hardly the sleigh bells rang. Soon the city was left behind, and we were on our way to the country. Breaking the silence of the evening that was fast falling over the land, enveloping all with its magic cloak of darkness, with the soft songs of the happy people, as to windows and doors were crushed by the farmhouses. They were not used to hearing hymns being sung by passers-by on those roads.

An occasional pedestrian was passed who invariably stopped and listened as the strains of our songs rang on their ears. The driver of a solitary dog-wagon, who had turned to watch us disappear in winter gloom.

On one occasion a lone cow that we passed on the road seemed to take quite a fancy to us, and followed us for fully half a mile, bellowing all the time.

Seems to recognize some one in the sleigh. "Go boss, go to look for me, she says, but you. Speak to your friend!" These were some of the remarks that were passed.

Finally twilight had fallen, and in the distance which gradually drew nearer, and accompanied by the calls from the corner of one of the farmhouses, we dashed into the town.

Forming in a ring, we prepared to pitch-right in to a lively open-air service. Some one in the crowd shouted, "Hallelujah!" and then, without a moment's warning, all the lights went out, leaving us in darkness so dense one could hardly see ten feet in front of us.

Were we to come all that distance only to have to turn back without doing anything? But no. Some kind friend appeared carrying a lantern, and so we pitched in.

What a picture it was! Fourteen Bandmen, trying to get a feeble light of one oil lantern on one side of the ring, the dark outlines of their other comrades on the other side, and clear light surrounding us, which we knew were the friends who had gathered to hear us. Such darkness cannot, however, be visualized.

After a few minutes, and when some kind friend came along with a number of torches we were going as it has had as if it were midday.

Finally, with colours flying and torches flashing, and the Band playing, we marched away to the Methodist Church, where a number of lamps were lighted to substitute the missing electric bulbs. Here, a real Salvation Army meeting was held and enjoyed by all. Captains and address was very appropriate, as it was on the words, "I am the Light of the world."

After eleven o'clock the Band gave a few marches and selection, and then as the cry was raised, "God be with you, they finished. "God be with you, they met again. And there, as the singing-chairs on both sides, away we went.

ON THE TWILIGHT HOUR.

Our Letter to Women Readers.

My Dear Comrades—Cheerfulness! That was the topic I promised to write about this morning. I very much want this letter to be a long blessing. Not only to the clever people, but also to those who through misfortune may not have had a perfect education; and to the young girls. We want all to read our letter—your letter—with profit.

Therefore, if some of our very bright and cultured readers think that we talk in a very simple way, about very ordinary subjects; please just remember that sometimes the most profound thoughts may be expressed in the humblest language; and that an article, or address, need not be full of long, high-sounding words to be both clever and helpful to those who read and listen.

Perhaps you don't think there is much in this subject of cheerfulness?

Some one said to me once, "You, always say you have a good time." "I always do have a good time," was my answer.

"Well, how is it?" was the somewhat peevish question.

"Partly, I suppose," was my reply, "because I take it with me and I think I have as much right to try and make a good time for other people as they have to make it for me."

Now, dear sisters, I think there was sound philosophy in that of putting it, don't you? [I thought the following illustration very suggestive of the above.]

"Going on an outing with some friends, a young lady, before starting out, put a spray of sweet eglantine in her bosom. She quite forgot its presence. But all day long she and her intimate companions kept getting the delicious odour of the sweet briar, and wondered where it was."

"So in all your life. The good time is in you. It is with you as to whether you have good neighbours and find pleasant people everywhere you go. The glory of the heavens, the gorgeousness of the sunrise and the sunset, the sweetness of bird songs, the ecstasy of waving trees and blooming flowers, the very goodness of God itself—all are in you, all depend on what you are, on what you live on with you."

"What kind of a time do you want to have? It rests with you. Will you walk in clear light or stumble along in gloom? Take the name of Jesus with you. It is magical."

This cheerful manner affects other people. There are some folk who change the atmosphere of a room as soon as they enter. As soon as they appear there is an air of good cheer.

When at our fourteen-mile drive home, when at two o'clock, am, we arrived at the Falls, still singing, everyone agreed that we had had the best sleigh ride we had ever had—W. E. D.

Cobourg. Profitable meetings were conducted on Sunday (January 25th) by Captain and Mrs. Berau (writes Cornet). On Sunday night, Sister Moss, Rossiter, of Toronto, read the lesson, and four souls came to the Penitent-form. Attendance all day was good.

fellowship and brightness that lights up all who see their shininess and their happy remarks. One might fancy that such persons had no trials or troubles in their lives. But this is often not so. Some of the most pleasant people we have known have led many sorrows and griefs, and disappointments.

I think cheerfulness is even a different quality from happiness. Happiness is will, of course, make cheerfulness; but it is possible to have a buoyant manner when the heart is oppressed and burdened with cares and sorrows.

One may cultivate but animated, interested manner, even when his spirit is borne down by depression and anxieties.

Society people do this for the sake of appearing fascinating and popular. How much more should followers of the Master permit His religion to appear what it is—bright and attractive?

It is the sunshine that gives colour to the flowers; and it is comfort for the lonely, pity for the poor, love for the unfortunate that the world needs. Ah, my sisters, be cheerful. There is so much good about. Scatter flowers as you go.

A writer has well said, "Cheerfulness lightens sickness, poverty, affliction; converts ignorance into a desirable simplicity, and renders desamity light agreeable."

Cheerfulness is health," says another, "the opposite, melancholy is disease."

And yet another said: "An ounce of cheerfulness is worth a pound of sadness to serve God well."

How often have Army Officers found, in meeting those who were hostile to their work, that an open, smiling face and a ringing, hearty voice have disarmed the critic and really served as the first step towards success and victory.

Mothers will find their little ones much easier to manage if they maintain a sunny face and a pleasant manner.

And surely there is no grace that our young sisters will find more useful, elevating to their minds and spirits, than the grace of cheerfulness.

Learn to accept disappointments and hurts—for they come to us all—in this manner. It will develop in you patience, self-control; and, when the way is dark and dreary, and our dear comrades, try and remember the paring words of the Master to His trusting disciples: "Let not your hearts be troubled. He is of good cheer; I have overcome the world."

Your Comrade, JESSIE BELL.

THREE GIDEONS.

(Continued from Page 12.) "He began to shout, 'Shout, Gid! Shout, Gid!' and so much 'Shout, Gid!'—shoo—shooing—that nearly dropped the gun for laughing; and when I could pull myself together to load the gun 'kicked' so terribly that I thought it had done some permanent injury to my shoulder."

When you have read this paper, please pass it to a friend who would not be likely otherwise to see a copy.

The courtesy of Brother Peterson, providing an automobile, was the start was made on Sunday morning by Colonel Rees, Brigadier-General and Ensign Martell for New Westminster Jail, and the Okanagan Farm, which places the men in the hands of the visitors. The twenty men raised the cheering special prayer.

On Sunday evening the Vancouver I. Chancel was crowded. The dignified General was crowded. The dignified General was crowded. The dignified General was crowded.

On Tuesday, January 26, two Colonels arrived in Vancouver where they were met by Sir John Sims, who had located a building in that city which seemed suitable for the coming of the military operations. The building was inspected, a conference between Property and Social Secretary, and it was decided to rent the property. The place is now being used with seventy beds and other equipment for a salvage store.

For some days for the purpose. The opening is expected to take place on February 7th, and Adjutant Mrs. Watson of the Wilton Arms, Metropole, Toronto, are being appointed to take charge.

Edmonton was next visited. Colonel Rees had an interview with Mayor W. J. McNamee, who was so impressed with the Colonel's address, called in his stenographer and had the report made of the spot of what was said, suggesting to use all his influence to secure help for The Army. It is estimated that operations in that city. The Colonel was highly in the assistance rendered to The Army in its work at the Central Prison, Toronto, and at the Guelph Prison Farm, by Sergeant Lyons, now the superintendent of a similar farm at Edmonton. Here, as at Calgary, a meeting was conducted, and the Colonels being present.

Arriving in Moose Jaw on Friday, Colonel Rees discussed social problems of the city with Adjutant Holkirk, into whose care the city authorities have placed an old Roman Catholic church, which they have used with fifty beds, kitchen, dining-room, for the relief of the poor during this exceptionally hard winter. The scheme has so far been very successful, and certainly is of great assistance to the City Council. On Saturday the Colonel, with Staff-Captain Sims, arrived in Winnipeg; the day being occupied with business.

On Sunday morning, the Colonel led the meeting at Winnipeg H. Corps; in the afternoon he visited the Provincial Jail, and after conducting a meeting with about a hundred men, had an interesting conversation with the Warden, Colonel Lindsay.

At night, the Colonel led the meeting at the No. 1, Chancel, but had to leave before the prayer meeting in order to catch the train for Toronto. Colonel Turner at Edmonton, Regina, and Winnipeg, met various officials of the Provincial Government, and at Saskatoon met the Mayor at a City Council meeting, the mayor of his time he is accused with immigration business, the coming season for this departing work will be entirely different, governed by the results of the Colonel's conference with the immigration and other commissioners of the W. Effects of Wrong Living. The present-day young men are what is a result of excessive drinking and the opinion of a man.

The arteries are the piping of the man body. They go everywhere, the toes, brain, spinal cord. They carry all the blood in the system. The blood is overburdened with the poisons left over from excessive drinking, from the drains of passion from gorging. There is just poison where they settle—the arteries.

This causes the arteries to get clogged finally to burst. "He died of apoplexy," says the morning paper. "No, he died because he so that he had hardened and rotted his brain piping."

Heroin at Sea. Another tragedy of the sea has occurred, the "Nantuxet" ramming "Monroe" in a fog off the coast of Virginia. There was a loss of one lives, the "Monroe" sinking within twelve minutes.

Coming as it is the tragedy, the duty of the officers and crews of vessels must furnish a brilliant example for the annuals of the merchant marine. The white seamen and colored stewards alike behaved with great coolness and bravery. Teaching stories of self-sacrifice reported. Immediately after the collision the main dynamo of the "Monroe" was put out of commission and the lights all over the ship went out. Assistant Engineer Pearson, in the face of almost certain death, looked below and started down number two, thus enabling the lighted passengers to see their way about. The coloured stewards, at every side with life preservation, and the passengers to the deck on and helped them to the shore. Many of them were drowned.

Railway Facts and Figures. There are now 29,304 miles of railway in Canada, according to recently issued statistics, 2,276 of these miles were added during the year ending June 30th last. Ontario leads, with 9,000 miles; Saskatchewan is second, with 4,651; Manitoba is third, with 3,903, and Quebec fourth, with 3,686. At the end of the year 18,647 miles were under construction.

Tower of Sileam Found. It is reported that the foundations of the Tower of Sileam have been discovered in Jerusalem. This was the tower concerning which Jesus is quoted in Luke 13:4 as saying: "Those eighteen upon whom the tower in Sileam fell and slew, think ye that they were sinners above all men that dwelt in Jerusalem?"

The excavators have found the base of a circular tower which may well be that of the Tower of Sileam. They have found also an emulid leading from the spring.

Money That Talks. The invention of a chemist who make it much easier to detect counterfeit bank notes. For there are now bank notes that talk out loud. Counterfeits are dumb. Genuine hills made by the latest process will announce their destruction in plain words and in the language of the country in which they are issued.

To make the notes "talk" they have to be put in special constructed grammophone. Such grammophones are not yet in circulation, but it seems safe to predict that they will be before many years.

Temperance Forces Win. The result of the vote on the Canada Temperance Act in Peel and Huron has been a sweeping victory for the temperance party. The majority for the Act in Huron County was nearly three thousand. When the result became known, nearly all the churches in the town of Godrich began ringing bells.

Speaking of the victory, the Secretary of the Dominion Alliance says: "It is another step in the steady progress towards prohibition, and indicates the strong temperance sentiment in the Province. Another one has been added to the many nobles the liquor men have received to quit."

Whaling Is Overdone. The year 1913 was a poor one for whalers, the total yield of oil all the world over being estimated at about eight hundred thousand casks. This constitutes a record.

There is apprehension now among those engaged in the industry that it is being overdone, and, in fact, communications have already passed between the different Governments concerned with a view to the summoning of an international conference in order to consider how best to put a stop to the indiscriminate slaughter that has been going on during the last few years in the vicinity of Kerguelen Island and the South Shetlands, as well as off the African, Australian, Tasmanian, and New Zealand coasts.

Tweed, Ont. We had a good week-end (January 24th and 25th). One soul sought salvation. We have welcomed Lieutenant Chambers, to help Captain G. Beckett in the Corps.

ARMY SONGS.

Tunes—Christ for me, We're travelling home.
 1 Thou Christ of burning, cleansing flame,
 Send the fire!
 Thy Blood-bought gift to-day we claim,
 Send the fire!
 Look down and see this waiting host,
 Send us the promised Holy Ghost,
 We want another Pentecost,
 Send the fire!
 'Tis fire we want, for fire we plead,
 Send the fire!
 The fire will meet our every need,
 Send the fire!
 For strength to ever do the right,
 For grace to conquer in the fight,
 For power to walk the world in white,
 Send the fire!

Tune—Ring the bell, watchman, 269.
 2 Come, join our Army, to battle we go,
 Jesus will help us to conquer the foe;
 Defending the right and opposing the wrong,
 The Salvation Army is marching along.
 Come, join our Army, the foe we defy;
 True to our colours, we'll fight till we die;
 "Saved from all sin," is our war cry and song:
 The Salvation Army is marching along.
 Come, join our Army, and do not delay,
 The time for enlisting is passing away;
 The battle is raging, but victory will come;
 The Salvation Army is marching along.

Tune—For you I am praying, 227.
 3 We have a message, a message from Jesus,
 And time is now hastening, its moments are few;
 He's seeking poor sinners, make haste to receive Him,
 The Master is come and He call-eth for you.
 Chorus.
 For you He is calling, etc.

We have a message, a message from Jesus,
 A message of hope to the poor, weary heart;
 The love of my Saviour, there's nothing so precious,
 The friendship of Jesus will never depart.

We have a message, a message from Jesus,
 A message of love to the poor drunkard's soul;
 The love of my Jesus will snap all his fetters,
 The Blood of my Saviour makes perfectly whole.

Sergt.-Major Knapp, Ingersoll.

Regarding Bro. Knapp of Ingersoll, whose promotion to glory was recently noticed in "The War Cry," it should be added that our comrade had been for many years a Local Officer of the Corps, and that he held at the time of death the position of Senior Sergeant-Major. He had also, at one time, served as a member of the Ingersoll Town Council.

We have already said that his death was sudden; we now learn that while engaged with his work at the cemetery, he suddenly collapsed and expired.
